

Diana Day Joins DWPM as Litigation Attorney

Doherty, Wallace, Pillsbury and Murphy, P.C. is happy to announce the hiring of Diana Day as a litigation attorney.

Attorney Day joined Doherty, Wallace in February, 2021. She has an extensive background in state and federal litigation on behalf of individuals, small businesses, Fortune 100 companies, and government agencies. Prior to joining the firm, Diana worked at a law firm in Phoenix, Arizona practicing business, insurance, and medical malpractice litigation. She then served in the public sector as an attorney for both state and local governments, focusing on high-profile litigation involving elections and constitutional claims, public infrastructure projects, employment, personal injury, and wrongful death. She also served in the general counsel role for a public pension system with over $40 billion in assets under management. Diana is a member of the Defense Research Institute.

John McCarthy, a senior litigation attorney at Doherty, Wallace, said “Diana is a great addition to our team and will provide our clients with exceptional assistance in facing their legal challenges.

Doherty, Wallace offers a broad range of legal services in order to meet the diverse needs of our clients and friends in Western Massachusetts.
